The Johns Hopkins University Publications Project was authorized by Dwight D. Eisenhower to edit and publish his papers. He reserved the right to use the papers for purposes other than comprehensive publication to himself, his heirs and estate. The project was not permitted to publish material closed under the Floete letter of gift without the consent of Dwight D. Eisenhower, his son, or their legal representative. Finally, the University was granted the right "to secure appropriate copyright protection for the edition of my papers which it publishes as a result of this project except for the letters themselves." (See: Office of the Director, Dwight D. Eisenhower Library: Records, correspondence with John Garland, JHU)

Restrictions on this material will be those imposed by the Floete letter of gift.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The manuscripts and related material for the War Years portion of the Johns Hopkins University Publications Project, The Papers of Dwight D. Eisenhower, are for the first of the project's publications. The material consists of copies of original documents in the Eisenhower Library, the National Archives, the Library of Congress, and in private collections from the period 1939 to 1947. Also included are project notes, indexes and other finding aids to collections used, interoffice memos and a few letters by Project staff, and the evolution of the five volume set through draft manuscripts, galley and page proofs, and reproduction proof and art work. The Project originated material covers the period from 1963 to 1970.

The copies of original documents include not only those published but also those rejected with memos on why they were rejected, and supplementary documents used for background reference and as a basis for footnotes included in the published books.

NOTE: 127 bound volumes of the New York Times were received with the manuscripts and were transferred to the book collection.

HISTORY OF THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY PUBLICATIONS PROJECT

Johns Hopkins University was formally granted the privilege of editing and publishing the papers of Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1963.

An Advisory Board, consisting of Johns Hopkins University faculty, editors of other series of Presidential papers, and public figures, was set up to give general guidance to the project. Dr. Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., as editor-in-chief, was placed in charge of the actual operations for this portion of the series.

The project is concerned solely with Dwight D. Eisenhower's own ideas and writing and it publishes in full only material written, edited, or signed by General Eisenhower.

Working from microfilm and photostats of original documents in the Eisenhower Library, the National Archives, the Library of Congress, and private collections, the project edited and published this first series covering the period from 1941 to 1945. Work on the post war period is now going on.

For further information on the project and its staff members, see the introduction in the published volumes.
