SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

As Dwight Eisenhower's aide from 1947 to 1969, Robert L. Schulz performed a wide variety of tasks managing the practical aspects of DDE's life as general, Columbia University president, NATO leader, President of the United States, and former President. Schulz was officially a military aide for during most of his long association with DDE, though his duties were broad in nature. His chief purpose was to handle mundane matters in order to free Eisenhower to concentrate on the affairs of office.

Schulz had a background in transportation, and he maintained a lifelong interest in the transportation and the hospitality industries. He joined the military in 1942, began arranging transportation for Eisenhower as early as 1945, and became Eisenhower's Aide-de-Camp in 1947. His primary duties included arranging transportation and handling personal business matters for Eisenhower and his family. Schulz acted as a gatekeeper and a discreet channel of communication for DDE's family and close friends. In this latter role, he interacted with many prominent associates of Eisenhower, and developed personal relationships with some. Schulz eventually retired from the military in 1962, but continued to work for Eisenhower as an aide, though he earned extra income as a fund-raiser for the United Cerebral Palsy Associations.

Shortly before Eisenhower's death in 1969, Richard Nixon appointed Schulz to a newly created post: Special Liaison to the President for Former Presidents. In this role, he worked with former president Lyndon Johnson and President Richard Nixon. He also continued to assist Mamie Eisenhower, the Eisenhower family, and John and Delores Moaney (the latter couple were longtime employees of the Eisenhowers). Schulz was also active in various Eisenhower legacy organizations and enterprises. Later in life, he actively researched business opportunities in various fields and worked as a consultant.

The papers of Robert L. Schulz include appointment books which he maintained for Eisenhower, social and business correspondence, subject files, property lists, card indexes, memorabilia, and military travel files. Researchers interested in the practical details of Eisenhower's private life will find much of interest, including concrete information on travel arrangements, household goods, diet, and the like. An incomplete but nevertheless useful portrait of Schulz's personality, interests, and work can also be gleaned from the collection. The information on the development of the Eisenhower Foundation and the Eisenhower Library complex may be interesting to historians of these institutions. Finally, the collection (particularly the correspondence) may be useful to social historians of the 1950s and 60s who are interested in social relations of men in business. Numerous photographs, artifacts, and books were transferred to the audiovisual collection, the museum collection, and the book collection, respectively.

Bound photocopies of Schulz's and Eisenhower's appointment books, 1945-1971

The appointment books reflect the entries in the appointment books in Dwight D. Eisenhower's papers, but sometimes contain additional annotations specific to Schulz's duties. The photocopied appointment books were created for the use of the editors of the Johns Hopkins publication of The Papers of Dwight D. Eisenhower. These bound appointment books are not in boxes.

SERIES 2: CORRESPONDENCE FILES, 1941-1976

Linear feet: 17 feet, 11 inches
Approximate number of pages:
Processed by MB, November 22, 2011

The Correspondence Series consists of an alphabetically arranged Name Files subseries spanning 1941-1960, and eleven other subseries arranged by year and there under alphabetically, covering the period from 1961 to 1976.

Schulz corresponded with many persons in the transportation and hospitality industries and the military. He often exchanged social correspondence with people whom he met in the course of his work, and some correspondence involves matters pertaining to both Schulz and Eisenhower.

Nearly half the series dates from the 1950s. Much of the correspondence involves fairly routine messages touching on topics such as gifts, promotions, spouses, children, and travel. References to politics or international affairs are found, usually in the form of admiration expressed for President Eisenhower. Schulz was often asked to convey greetings or good wishes to the Eisenhower family, and he himself often mentions his work-related travels. Many letters contain references to enclosures not found within the series. Researchers interested in DDE's time at SHAPE should consult the Al Gruenther and R.O. Davidson correspondence in particular. Those interested in the Eisenhower family should consult the Eisenhower, Doud, Michael Doud Gill, and Ted Brown files.

Schulz's interest in business and his career ambitions are also documented in the series. At various times, he contemplated leaving the military and establishing a business or working as a consultant. His interest in inventions, commercial opportunities, woodworking, and model trains is also amply documented.

The various Personal Correspondence subseries and the Miscellaneous Correspondence subseries resemble the Name Files, but include more cards and letters of a purely social nature. The 1968 subseries contains many inquiries about DDE's health, while the 1969 subseries includes correspondence regarding RLS's own health after he suffered a heart attack on April 25, 1969; however, there is very little correspondence from 1969 prior to DDE's death. The relative scarcity of correspondence from 1968 and 1969 may reflect the extra strain imposed by DDE's failing health and later, RLS's own illness.

SERIES 3: AIDE FILES, 1948-1969

Linear feet: 18 feet, 2 inches

Approximate number of pages:

Processed by MB, November 28, 2011

The series consists of card indexes, subject files, and lists on diverse topics pertaining to RLS' duties as an aide to DDE, before, during, and after the presidency. The series has been subdivided into eighteen subseries reflecting the original arrangement of the material.

SUBSERIES: FILE CONTAINING NAMES, ADDRESSES, ETC. OF FRIENDS OF GENERAL DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, ca. 1965

This subseries comprises a card file of DDE's friends. It seems to date from the mid-1960s. Cards were evidently intended to aid the secretarial staff, and may include names, titles, birthdates, names of spouses and children, addresses, positions held, association with DDE, proper forms of address, and the manner in which correspondence should be signed (for instance, "With Warm Regards, DDE"). Occasionally, a brief biography is included. Some cards contain minimal information, either because none was available or the person was so well-known as to require no explanation for the secretarial staff.

SUBSERIES: FILE CONTAINING NAMES, ADDRESSES, ETC. OF FRIENDS OF GENERAL EISENHOWER (PRE-PRESIDENTIAL PERIOD), ca. 1952

This subseries comprises a card file of DDE's friends. Labeled "pre-presidential period," it seems to have been created around 1952 for the benefit of the secretarial staff; many of the entries refer to persons DDE first met in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

SUBSERIES: CALIFORNIA CARD INDEX, ca. 1956

This subseries consists of a card index of persons living in California, a significant number of whom attended a reception for the Eisenhowers at the Cypress Point Club in 1956. The greater part of the index is arranged alphabetically by city of residence; a small, separate section of persons for whom no address is given is arranged alphabetically by name.

SUBSERIES: PRINTED CARD RESPONSES, ca. 1961- 69

This subseries consists of templates for answering various types of requests, inquiries, offers, and comments from the public. The subject matter ranges from requests for autographs to John Birch Society accusations of disloyalty.

SUBSERIES: SUBJECT FILES, 1947-1969 (bulk 1953-1961)

This subseries comprises files on diverse topics pertaining principally to the private life of DDE and his family, and RLS and the Schulz family. RLS had responsibility for the management of many aspects of DDE's life which did not directly involve politics or official duties, but nevertheless required methodical attention, and this is reflected in the content of the files.

Topics covered include the compilation of biographical and genealogical data for DDE, his past residences, uniforms, decorations, clothing sizes, hobbies, clubs and associations, godchildren, insurance, firearms, wine and liquor inventory, foods, Western novels, trips, vacations, and other expensive items including gifts from foreign heads of state. Other subjects include SHAEF, SHAPE, and White House personnel, Columbia University, Culzean Castle, the Gettysburg Farm, JSDE's military career, portraits of DDE, and funeral arrangements. These files are of value for the biographical information they contain and the concrete information on certain of DDE's possessions, such as serial numbers on firearms and westerns read. After DDE's death in 1969, the Subject Files contain information on RLS's continuing activities on behalf of the Eisenhower family, and his support of DDE legacy projects. His own business ventures, his work as Special Assistant to the President for Liaison with Former Presidents, and his personal life are also documented.

SUBSERIES: ORGANIZATION FILES

This subseries is comprised of records involving DDE's and RLS's participation in various organizations patronized by DDE. These organizations consist of the United Cerebral Palsy Associations, Freedoms Foundation and the Eisenhower Fellowships.

SUBSERIES: POLICY BOOK

A transcript of the interview is also present. In addition, there is a transcript of a joint interview of Schulz and Ann Whitman by Robert Pierpont of CBS, on January 27, 1961.
