

ABILENE CLOTHING COMPANY

One of the advantages which the people of Abilene have which is not possessed by every city, is a first-class metropolitanly conducted gent's furnishing goods and clothing store. This we owe to the proprietors of the Abilene Clothing Company which became established about a year ago. While there are a number of firms handling gent's furnishings goods and clothing in this city, but there are none deserving more particular mention than the above named firm. Their success was assured from the start owing to the line carried and the prices quoted. "They have increased rapidly in both patronage and popularity until at present they are recognized as leaders, always having the latest styles, the best made clothing, as well as a large assortment of styling and durable shoes, and other apparel which is always appreciated by the most fastidious. Three courteous clerks are in attendance and a floor space of 1,750 square feet is occupied by the display of the immense stock. The store is a branch of the Anderson-Dunaway Clothing Company of Denver, Colorado and New York City, who are wholesale and retail manufacturers of low and mediums priced clothing for men. This store is under the management and direct supervision of Mr. John Eddy. Mr. Eddy was born in Kansas in 1889.
