HOME TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY

The growth and advancement of Abilene in all branches and lines of trade has been little less than marvelous during the past decade. This we owe to the brains, enterprise and resources of our business men. Among the prominent enterprises of this city are the Union Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company. These establishments are conducted on sound business principles and afford good service to all patrons. Mr. C. L. Brown is the secretary of both the Union Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Home Telephone & Telegraph Company. These companies have long distance telephone connections with all lines. Mr. Brown is a gentleman of strict business integrity, always dealing fair and honorable with all, and it is owing to his excellent management that these establishments have grown to such large proportions.
