

MEMORIES

Happy days gone by,
Cheerful moments sped,
Ne'er to come again,
Nought but memory in their stead
Joyful words and thoughts
Numbered with the sleeping,
Only come again in dreams,
And with the morning sun are fled

William C. Greany

December, 1960

