Dear Mr. President:

Last week, because I felt your panel program was not only appealing and charming, but most valuably informative, I sent you a short wire just to say it was great. Your letter to me arrived this morning and I am overwhelmed once again by your touching concern for each and every one of us!

I can't imagine how or where you found my name and address, as I'm just one of so many volunteers working to uphold the principles you have set forth — and only too proud to be doing what we can. Naturally I have proudly displayed "my letter", and I have a favor to ask, which I know you will feel is as worthwhile as I do. There is a young boy of thirteen in our neighborhood who has done the most astounding job of fund raising for our Nixon-Lodge headquarters! Every four or five days he comes in with money he has collected by selling campaign jewelry, buttons and car stickers. Today he came in with donations totaling over $45.

He is a great Republican now, and I have every reason to think will get better and better! When I showed him your letter to me, I wish I could have sent a picture of his face! I think he would probably explode if he got a letter (just a note!) signed by you, but will you take that chance with me? His name is Nick Altemus and if you will send it to:

Nick Altemus
Nixon-Lodge Headquarters
8433A Germantown Avenue
Philadelphia 18, Pa.

I will have the extreme pleasure of handing him his reward! He has done his work with such a wonderful spirit, and he knows, of course, nothing of this letter.

May God Bless you and keep you. Much love to you and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Elizabeth B. Finley

Dear Nick:

Mrs. Finley has written to the President to tell him of your energetic and effective support of the Nixon-Lodge campaign. The President was delighted to hear of the interest you are taking in the current political campaign, and he hopes that you will always maintain, in the years that lie ahead for you, that active enthusiasm.
