Harry C. Butcher signed an instrument of gift for his papers on July 31, 1969. Literary rights in the unpublished writings of Harry C. Butcher were retained by Mr. Butcher until his death. Upon his death on April 20, 1985, the literary rights passed to his wife Mary Margaret (Mollie) Butcher. Upon her death on February 15, 1994, the literary rights passed to the public. Under terms of the instrument of gift the following classes of documents will be withheld from research use:

1. Papers relating to family and personal affairs of Harry C. Butcher and to private business affairs of other individuals.
2. Papers relating to investigations of individuals or to appointments and personnel matters.
3. Papers containing statements made by or to Harry C. Butcher in confidence unless in the judgment of the Director of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Library the reason for the confidentiality no longer exists.
4. All other papers which contain information or statements that might be used to injure, harass, or damage any living person.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The personal papers of Harry C. Butcher span the years from 1910 to 1959, but the bulk and most significant parts cover the period from 1942 to 1946, while he was Naval Aide to Dwight D. Eisenhower and the publication of his book My Three Years with Eisenhower.

The collection was arranged in five series: Correspondence; Miscellaneous Memorabilia; Diary; My Three Years with Eisenhower; and material received from Virgil Pinkley

The Correspondence Series is arranged by month and covers the period from June 1942 to December 1945. It consists of correspondence, memoranda, messages, narratives, orders, reports, lists, speeches, press releases, news clippings, and other materials. Subject matter includes General Eisenhower; Butcher's diary and published book My Three Years with Eisenhower; American soldiers in England; the American war effort; the North African, Mediterranean and European Theaters of Operation in World War II; naval uniforms; General Eisenhower's dogs; Mamie Eisenhower; poker; the Quebec conference; the 1944 election; Franklin D. Roosevelt's death; the Truman presidency; the Patton affair; British-American relations; Negro soldiers, censorship and press relations; the Red Cross; the German surrender; Columbia Broadcasting System during and after the war; and other matters.

Major correspondents include his first wife, Ruth, and his daughter Beverly; Stephen Early, Omar N. Bradley, Victor Emanuel, Milton S. Eisenhower, Cordell Hull, Harry L. Hopkins, Virgil Pinkley (U.P.'s General European Manager), Paul Porter (Democratic National Committeeman), Walter Bedell Smith, George Allen (Vice President, Home Insurance Company and Secretary of Democratic National Committee), J.D. "Jerry" Brandon, Mark Wayne Clark, and others. Approximately one-fourth of this series is made up of correspondence to and from Dwight D. Eisenhower which Butcher answered or prepared for Eisenhower's signature.

The second series, Miscellaneous Memoranda, includes lists of photographs, books, museum items turned over to the audiovisual, book and museum collections and other miscellaneous materials.

The third series, Diary, is made up of enlargement prints and typed copies of the pages of the original diary. This includes portions of Butcher's diary dealing with the Paris-P.R.D. period which is not covered in the original diary filed in Eisenhower's pre-presidential papers. A partial name index to the diary and a few inserts, suggestions and memos on the diary are also included.

The fourth series, My Three Years with Eisenhower, is made up of correspondence dealing with the publication, the serialization which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, and reviews of his book. Also included are manuscripts of several drafts of the book. The War Department (original typed copy), Pentagon (1st carbon) and Miss Simpson (2nd carbon) drafts pre-date the Simon and Schuster (in original typed copy form), 1st carbon "B" and 2nd carbon "C" drafts.

The fifth series, the Virgil Pinkley accretion, consists of correspondence and other material from the first four series which Butcher had loaned to Virgil Pinkley, a California journalist who was researching Dwight D. Eisenhower's career. After using the material in his research, Pinkley forwarded the files to the Eisenhower Library so they could be included with Butcher's papers. The collection had already been processed so the material received from Pinkley was added to the end of the collection as a separate series rather than being integrated into the main files.

The Pinkley material consists mostly of correspondence, memorabilia and information on Butcher's diary. The correspondence covers the period from May to November 1945. The letters are primarily between Butcher and General Eisenhower, and concern Butcher's book, different positions for which Eisenhower was being considered, activities of close military associates and friends, and Butcher's dog. The diary information includes abstracts from the diary, focusing primarily on the North African campaign during November and December 1942, and some handwritten notes and outlines by Butcher for use in his book. The memorabilia includes copies of reports, speeches, news clippings and other printed items.
